Theme: SYMPHONY

To live content with small means; to seek elegance rather than luxury, refinement rather than fashion; to be worthy, not wealthy; to study hard, think quietly, talk gently, act frankly. In a word, to let the spiritual, unbidden and unconscious, grow up through the common. This is to be my symphony.

—WILLIAM HENRY CHANNING

VOLUME XXX

PUBLISHED BY THE
STUDENTS OF PORTLAND HIGH SCHOOL
PORTLAND, MAINE

ALLAN COOK AND RALPH LEVI, Co-editors

MISS BARBARA JOHNSON, Faculty Adviser

Prelude

TO each of us life is like a grand musical composition divided into various movements . . . a symphony composed by the Great Creator. As the musician seeks harmony in the sublime profound regions of expressive music, each of us in our own lives, seeks out consonance and joins in concord the permanent bond between human life and fine music.

Thus at Portland High School our four years of study and enjoyable fellowship combine into an enthralling symphony of four movements.

Our introduction, full of gayety and vigor, portrays both the fast moving reception of the group by the school and our blending into the school routine during our freshman year . . .

"Allegretto" — The Greeting

On realization of our individual parts in this true life symphony we settled down to conscientious endeavor and so created the second movement our sophomore year . . .

"Cantabile" — Fine Achievement Through Study

Under the baton of the faculty we concentrated our efforts and approached the climax of the now predominating symphony. Our minds more easily grasped the varied and mystifying essence of the vast world surrounding us. Through the third movement we transmitted this vigorous feeling of understanding . . .

"Fortissimo"

With the finale of our symphony in view and lofty notes echoing the thoughts of accomplishments, friends and future plans, our student symphony members raised their instruments of education and self confidence and the vibrating tones of majestic brilliance resounded with the fourth and final movement . . .

"Grandiose" — in Caps and Gowns

Dedication

The Staff of the 1949 TOTEM gratefully dedicates this edition to three teachers, Miss Amy P. Wiswell, Miss E. May Tolman and Miss Frances E. Haskell, who are retiring after serving many years as beloved members of the faculty. It will, indeed, be difficult to find new educators to fill the gap created by the departure of these fine women. Their combined service was more than 75 years of teaching in PHS.

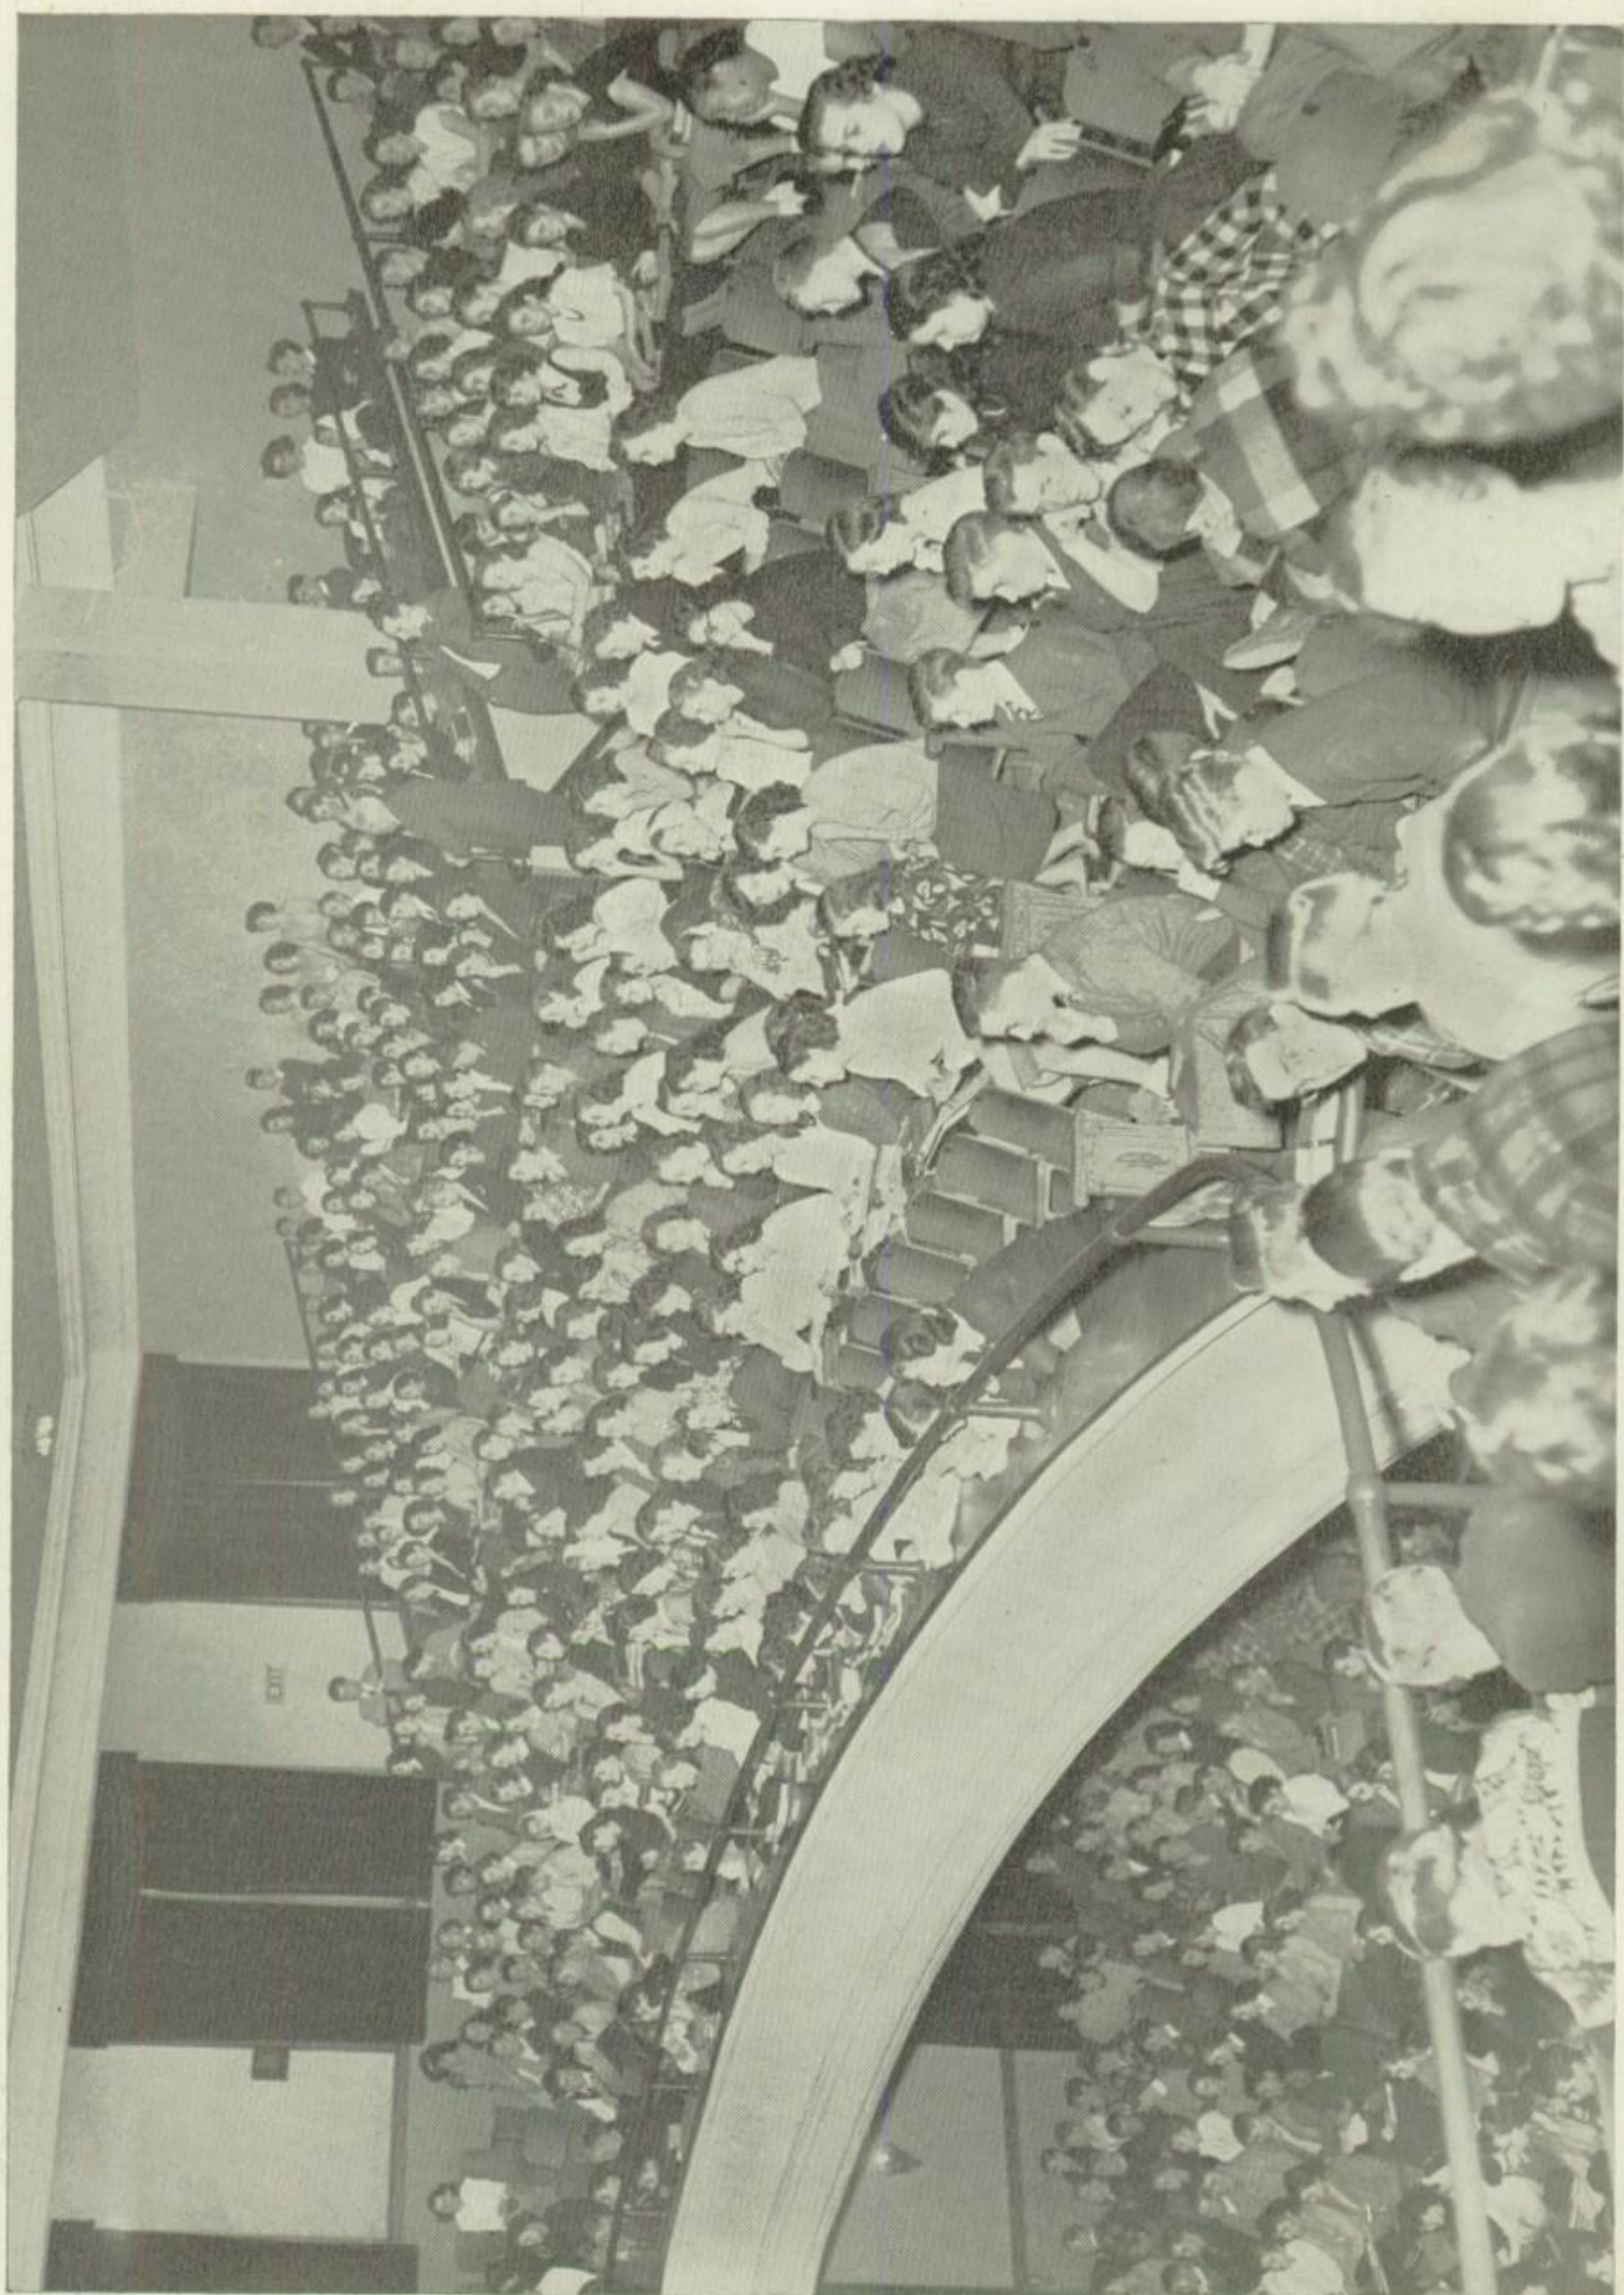

Miss Wiswell, in her biology classes explained Dame Nature's wonderful ways. Her devotion to her subject and her delightful dry humor were an ever delight to her students.

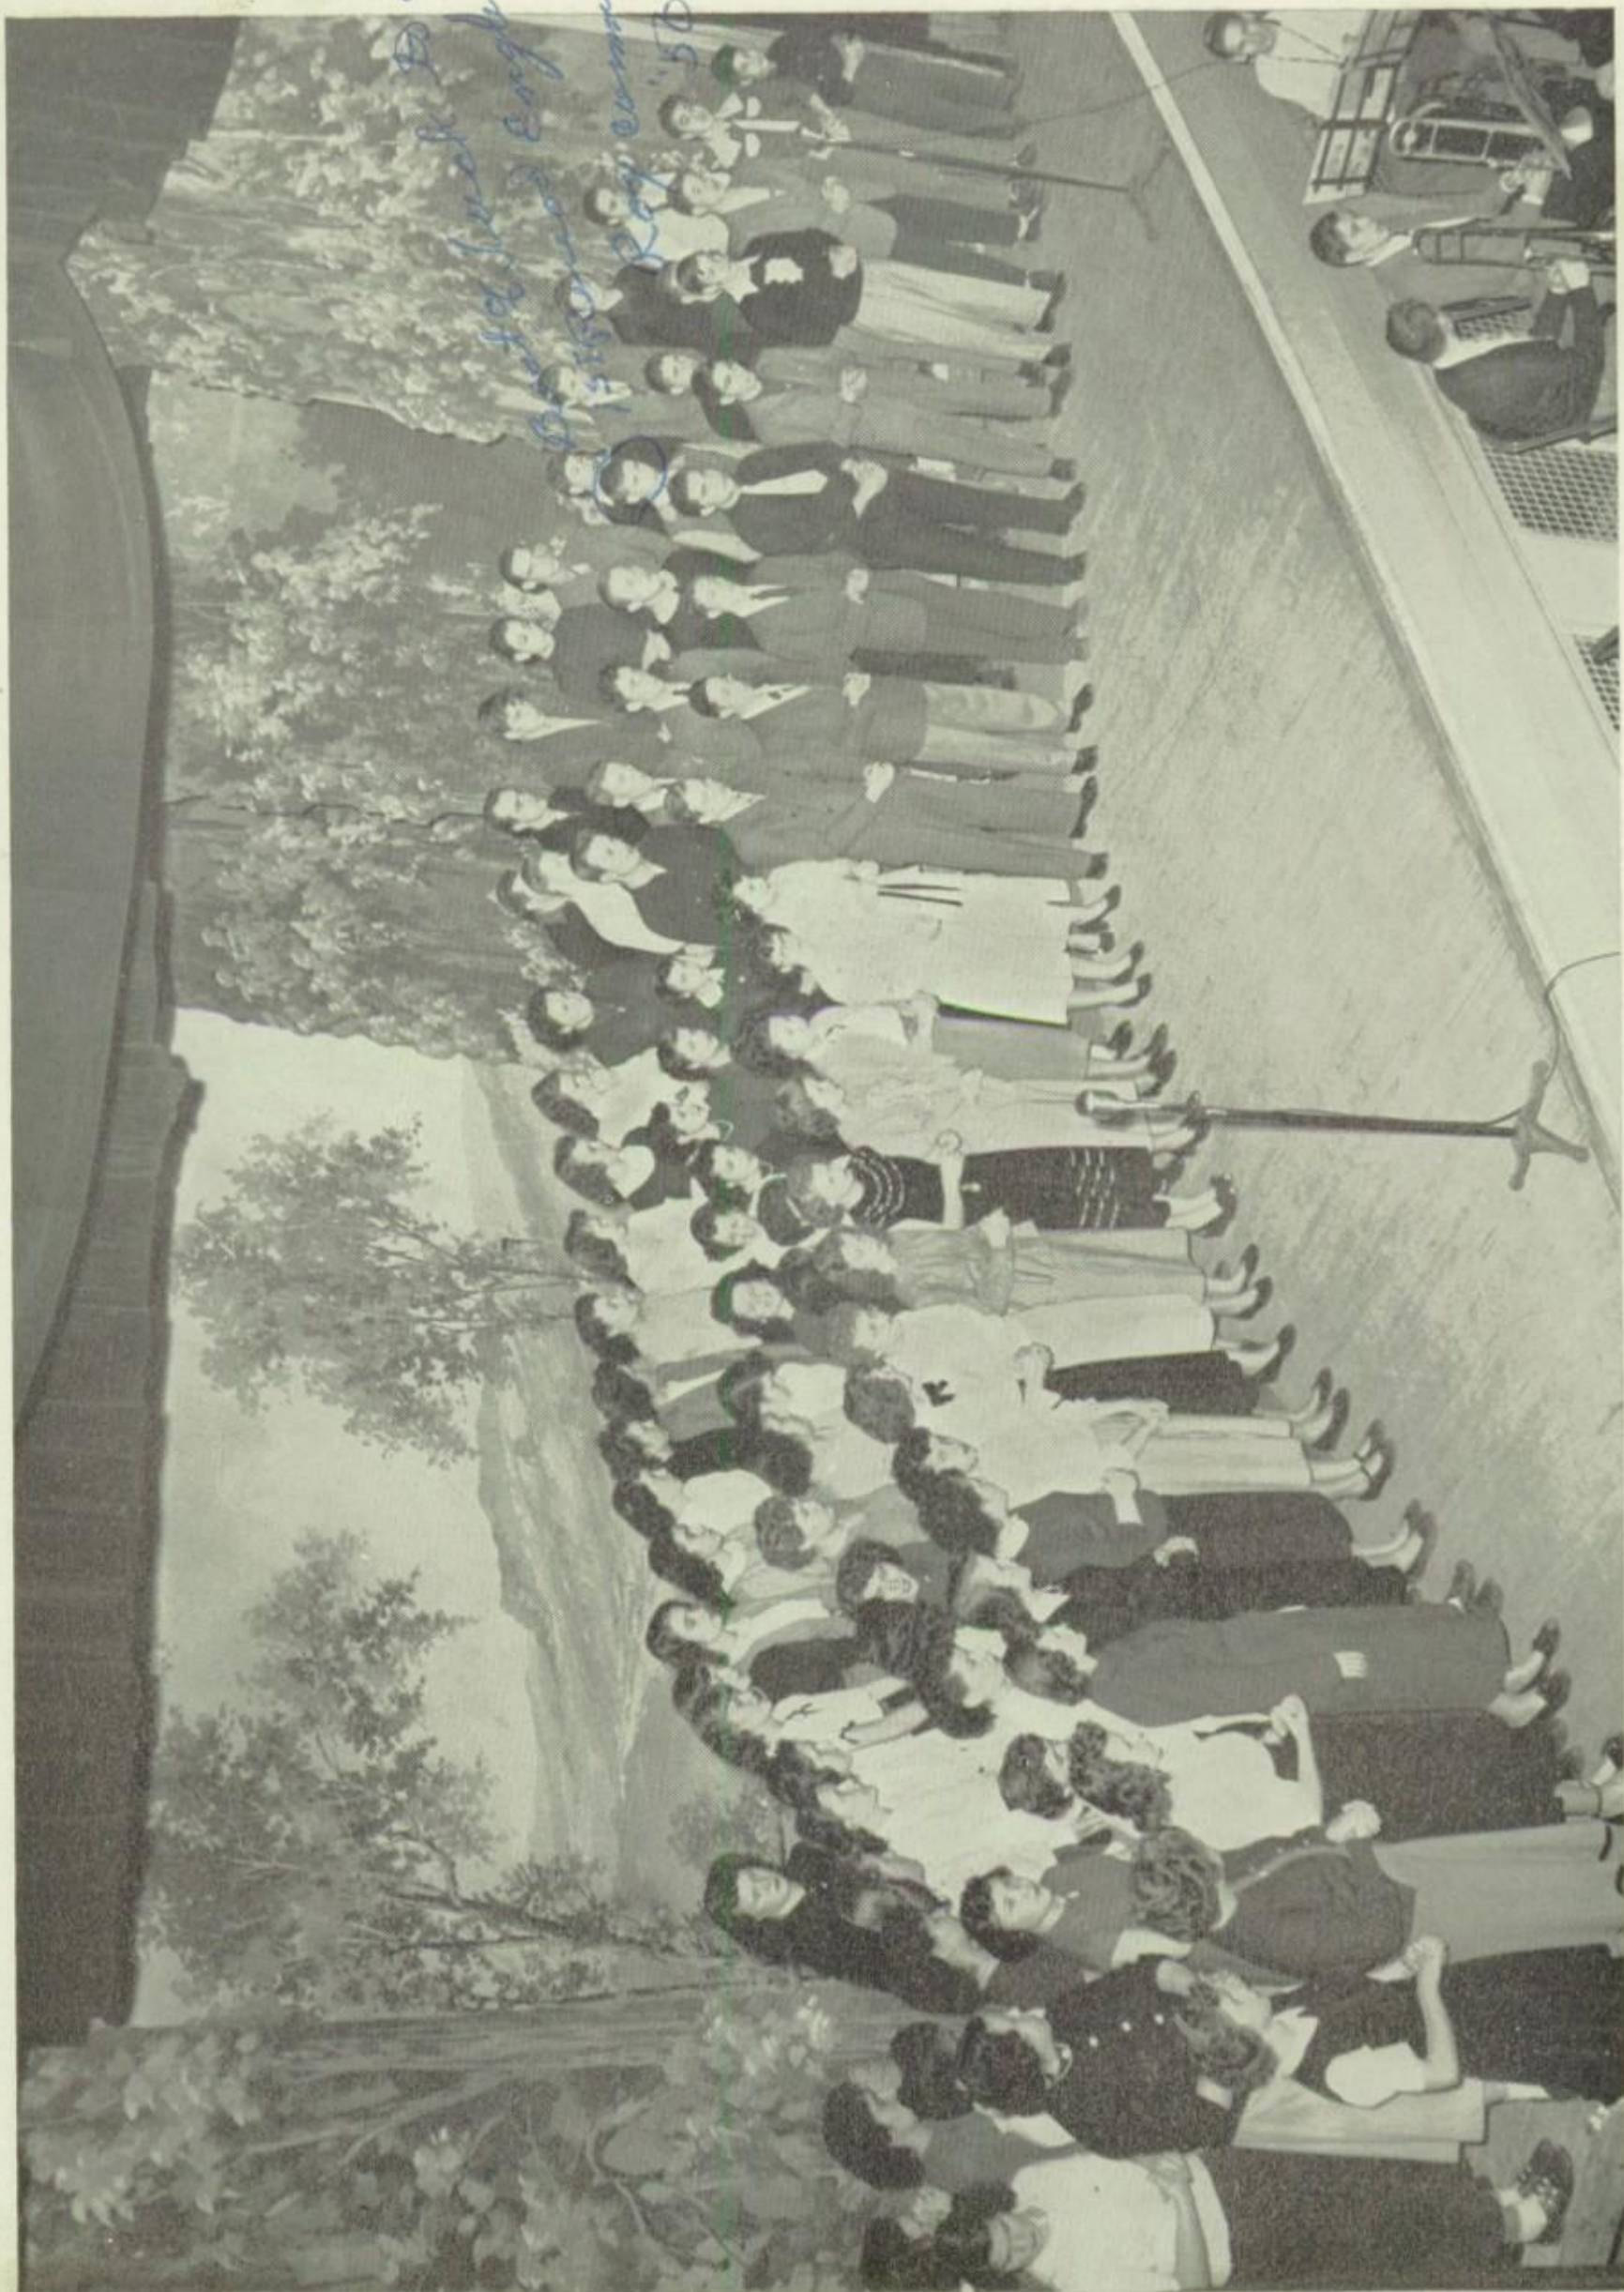

Miss Tolman, for many years, head of the Department of History, also taught love for one's fellow beings and to her many "folksies" the inspiring philosophy taught by this unusual teacher remains as much in their memories as her wonderful tales of early civilization.

Miss Haskell with fingers as nimble as a great pianist's, imparted to her pupils her knowledge of the typewriter keyboard, along with a zest for living and a credo for friendliness.

Just as the notes in a symphony are arranged to produce harmony so did these three teachers bring about harmony in their classrooms.

Like strains of a familiar melody, they will linger in our memories.

Composing Staff

Dr. Harrison C. Lyseth, popular and capable Superintendent of Schools, and his friendly, efficient workers in City Hall draw up the master pattern for the school system of which Portland Citizens can be justly proud.

DR. LYSETH'S STAFF

Standing—Mrs. Marion Eastman, Mrs. Helen Burnard, Miss Pauline Smith.
Seated—Mrs. Norma Saunders.

Assisting Dr. Lyseth are Miss Pauline H. Smith, newly appointed assistant to the superintendent; Mrs. Marion W. Eastman, secretary; Mrs. Norma J. Saunders, Mrs. Blanche T. Webster and Miss Evelina Federico, clerks; Fred M. West, superintendent of school buildings; Karl V. Palmer, attendance officer and Robert F. Skillings, accountant.

In a city the size of Portland with its many schools, the superintendent of schools has a difficult job. It is to the credit of Dr. Lyseth and his staff of competent assistants that the Portland School department functions so smoothly.

BIG THREE—Principal Howard C. Reiche, Sub-Master Theodore S. Johnson, Dean of Girls Miss Adelaide Lehan.

..... Arranging Staff

Last year Principal Howard C. Reiche and Submaster Theodore S. Johnson were introduced to the Portland High School faculty and student body as its new administrators. Since that time Mr. Reiche and Mr. Johnson have won the admiration and respect of everyone in the school for their friendly, kindly consideration of our mutual problems.

Their magnetic personalities and friendly ways have contributed to a large extent in making the students' days at P. H. S., memorable ones.

Completing the administrative picture is Miss M. Adelaide Lehan, Dean of Girls. Miss Lehan, an essential part of the directing triumvirate with her superior way of dealing with the problems of the girls, will always be remembered for her poised easy-going manner and her endless patience. The "Big Three"—the backbone of Portland High School!

Breathes here a senior of Portland High
Who never to himself did sigh
This is my school—a swell place—yet
It has one trait which I regret.

Its teachers are so awfully smart
That I'm discouraged from the start!

Now if they weren't so wise and stern
(Where my homework is concerned)

'Twould be ideal "not nuttin to lern"
No tests in poetry or English lit.,

No gems from "Hamlet" to remember,
No conjugating of French verbs,
(Nor Latin for that matter)

No squaring roots, cubing angles
Memorizing tan and cos
Because there simply is no point
In doing this, you know!

Often when that still small voice,
Which we're not supposed to heed
Said, concentrate on softball
That's more your speed

Or She's giving a pajama party. That's a date to keep
Many of Us listened—now we weep!

I repeat at this point—Our teachers are good!
Knowing different ones best, we like different ones most Admiring all unanimously—we now propose a toast
We've always found them capable, confident, clever
We leave them with sincere regrets
But forget them! Never!

Most Popular

Allan Cook and Eugenia Salamone won this title with little difficulty, both tallying more than twice as many votes as their nearest competitor. Others receiving votes were: Dave Jenkins, Ronny Norris, and Tom Conley; Aphie Doukas and Mary Malconian.

Most Valuable

Aphrodite Doukas and Allan Cook came out on top, receiving this title in recognition of faithful service given to the school. Others receiving votes were: Mary Malconian, Sylvia Caron, and Starr Balomenos; Ralph Levi, Arthur Kelley, and Dave Jenkins.

Best Athlete

Dick Hawes and Lorraine Johnson "shut out" the opposition by scoring an easy victory, assuring themselves a place in P.H.S.'s Hall of Fame. Other vote-getters were: Jim Campbell, Bob Young, and Jim Degifico; Nancy Douglas, and Betty Ek.

Most Likely To Succeed

Starr Balomenos and Ralph Levi finally won out in the closest race of them all. Trailing closely behind were: Aphie Doukas, Mary Malconian, and Sally Rich; Allan Cook, Arthur Kelley, and Harold Mack.

Senior Superlatives

Senior Superlatives

Best Looking

Pat Millett and Ronald Norris are the Venus and Apollo of the class of 1949. Other easy-to-look-upon-faces include: Toula Sackley, Eugenia Salamone, and Sylvia Caron; Donald LaPierre, Tom Conley, and Bob Young.

Best Dressed

Carl Harris and Sylvia Caron caught the eyes and votes of their classmates with their snappy outfits. Other sharpies are: Maurice Hight, John Aceto, Lester Noyes, Tom Conley, and Duke LaPierre; Pat Millett, Jeanette Capozza, and Sally Rich.

Best Dancer

Betty Kane and Fred DeSarno "trip the light, fantastic toe" with the most grace and rhythm according to the large number of votes they received. Other "smooth" dancers are: Carolyn Sanson, Elaine Thurston, and Rita Mahoney; Phil Peterson, Maurice Hight, and John Aceto.

Most Witty

Sam Pasciencier and Mary Malconian "roll 'em in the aisles." There's never a dull moment when these two are present. Other "jokers" include: Dave Jenkins, Leonard Bernstein, and Ronnie Norris; Joan Powers, Mary Langella, Betty Ek, and Barbara Dorler.

Senior

Like a master composer, Portland High School gives its gift to the world . . . the Class of 1949. This class, made up of many single units fused into one great masterpiece, leaves behind it new honors and names for the history of Portland High School and the promise of fine achievements in the years ahead.

Led by its officers, President, Allan Cook; Vice President, Richard Hawes; Secretary, Betty Kane and Treasurer, Eugenia Salamone, it has among its notables, Totem editors Cook and Ralph Levi; Hi-Lights editors, Sylvia Caron and Bruno Caliandro; Aphrodite Doukas, Carl Harris, Guy Hadlock, John Galli, Jean Thomas, Constance Taylor, Jan Colby, Maurice Hight, Arthur Kelley, Dana Farrington, and Nancy Douglas of pub-

CUMBERLAND AVENUE CHORAL

By MIGNONETTE MARSH, CLASS OF 1949

The music we remember, is native just to Portland High,
(and maybe Deering) —
Where cadences will always merge from rally cheers to rank card sighs
(those last Wagnerian whispers, far from cheering!)
The varied sounds that issue forth from basement shops to music room: —
The recess rhythm of near two thousand strong
The lilting squeals, athletic roars of us within these sturdy walls;
Our centipedal feet's own special Behop cry resounding in the halls;
The classroom's bustle, paper's rustle,
Our teachers' varying voices—
and our own;
These are our medleys—unwritten, unrehearsed.
And truly medleys—
Proud seeds of different nations, races, creeds,
Are here dispersed.
"And the music's not immortal"
But we have made it so,
And we won't forget our self-made song
Wherever we may go—
For music is the soul of life—we're part of that same music!

Last Will and Testament

WE, THE MEMBERS of the Senior Class of 1949, revoking all previous concessions made and claiming no responsibility whatsoever for that which is to follow, do hereby make our Last Will and Testament . . .

THE CLASS OF 1949 BEQUEATHS THE FOLLOWING:

The Physics classes leave their experiments to be solved by the Atomic Energy Commission. Guy Hadlock, John Galli, and "Vic" Altman leave their women trouble to any courageous underclassmen.

Bruno Caliendo leaves his "suzyphone" to any musical-minded Junior with a lot of wind. Sylvia Caron, Carolyn Zdanowicz, Jan Colby, and Toulia Sackley leave their lovely smiles ever to bewitch the unsuspecting fellows.

Arthur Kelley leaves his mellow slide-trombone to any ambitious "slushpumper."

Ralph Levi leaves his winning essays as a cheerful note of hope to all depressed underclassmen with writer's cramps.

Our departing mermen leave numerous speed records yet to be surpassed.

The editors of TOTEM and HI-LIGHTS leave bills to be paid.

Starr Balomenos leaves her remarkable musical talents to be forever cherished by the Band and Orchestra.

Bob Hill leaves his brain and brawn to all worthy students and fine sportsmen.

Shirley Goldberg and Bernice Boxstein leave their cafeteria gab to Julia Lyons and Rita Schwey.

Charlotte Troubh and Carl Harris leave a job well done in aiding their class's financial worries this year.

Donald Critchley leaves a pair of pants to any five deserving Junior boys.

George Chandler and Allan Cook leave their "crud days" to any one who owns a pair of dungarees.

Lorraine Johnson leaves her tennis racket to all future racketeers.

Ted MacDowell leaves his false-etto voice and shoulder-padding to Gloria Tevan.

Sam Pasciencier and Leonard Bernstein leave their titillating humor to Miss Sturgis.

The Senior Class officers leave their money-making schemes to haunt the hallowed "hauls" of P.H.S.

Dick and Dave Jenkins leave their identical looks to forever confuse the teachers of P.H.S.

The chemistry students leave their rotten-egg gas to Mr. Rosenthal.

Pat Millett leaves "the sweetest-sounding megaphone this side of heaven" to all future beautiful cheerleaders.

Ed Connolly leaves his running shoes to any one who can catch him.

The pupils of the one o'clock 103 class leave "Time On My Hands" to Mr. T. Johnson.

The college preparatory students leave all their unfilled applications for Mrs. Damren to fill out.

Dick Hawes leaves his athletic ability to all the boys who want to win varsity letters.

Cynthia Stevens and Harold Mack leave some of that grey matter called brains to all aspiring honor students.

Each and every Senior boy and girl leaves a fond "farwell" to their teacher, friends and underclassmen.

The Class of 1949 leaves.

Underclassmen

Junior

The Standard Bearers of our fine Symphony are the Junior Class. In 1946, this fine group entered into our realm as yearlings to our "City of Music." Today, after three fruitful years of experience and enjoyment in our great orchestra, they have distinguished themselves as one of the finest and most successful classes ever to honor the halls of Portland High School.

At the head of this capable group is conductor or President Joe Arabas aided by his faithful assistants Vice-President Bucky Smith, Secretary Donna Libby; Treasurer Bernadette Vigue; and Executive Board, Ray Cahill, Samuel Bleier, Joseph Nelson, Harold Thomas, Judy Venner, Katherine Kenney, Kathleen D'Amico and Rosalie Kasserman.

The sportsmen of our class are:

Class

Dick Lucas, Fred Kyle, Arnold Green, Arnold Rosario, and Herbert Wishart, New England Champion Natators.

Sprinters, Harvey Levine, Anthony Bellino, and Bob Davis; Basketeers, Al Grassi, and Dick Johnson; Gridmen, Jimmy Connors, Rollie McMillan and Bucky Smith. Our notables in music are: Arthur Komar, Sydney Cronsberg, and Gloria Tevan. Other Junior members who have argued themselves to debating success are Lois Dickson, Gordon Cote and Arnold Green. Worthy members of the "Totem" and "Highlights" staffs are Margaret Haskell, Corinne Flaherty, Lois Dickson, Arnold Green, and John Fortier. High strides have been taken by Majorettes Bernadette Vigue, Barbara McIntosh, June Sanson and Kathleen D'Amico.

Joe Arabas—Junior Class President.

JUNIOR EXECUTIVE BOARD

*For a small guy
is a terrible team.
I'll never forget your pranks in trying Ray F.*

Henry Minervino—Sophomore Class President.

Sophomore

The Sophomore Class of Portland High School views the past year as one of achievement and progress. In its election the popularity poll placed Henry Minervino at the head of the class by electing him president. Others chosen were Joan Lamon, vice president; Rosemarie Langella, secretary and June Haskell, treasurer. Katherine Hasson, Georgia Kourakos, Raymond Barker, Richard Bragdon, and Arturo Caliandro were elected to the Executive Board.

Outstanding musicians were Colene Kelley, Suzette Ellis, Eleanor Lowe, Alan Ward, Arturo Caliandro, Edwin

Class

Winship, and Eugene Plourde. Future cheerleaders will include Katherine Hasson, Audrey Wood, George Kourakos, Jean Bruce and Norma Beller.

Helen Wood, Eleanor Low and Edwin Winship were among those aiding Mr. Walch's 1949 champion debaters.

Future journalists contributing to "The Totem" and "Hi-Lights" have been Katherine Rutherford, Virginia Martin, Christina Colello, Jean Bruce, Norma Beller, Helen Wood, Dave Redmond, and Joseph Rigo.

Majorettes Barbara Billings, Valerie Davis and Marion Thomes have added their spirited bit to marching cadets, while Elizabeth Bickford, Barbara Billings, Dorothy Bragdon, Norma Beller, and Richard Call have represented the 1951'ers on the newly organized Student Council.

The time worn expression "green as grass" has been used countless times in referring to this year's freshmen — the Class of 1952. However, after spending a year toddling through halls of P.H.S.; gathering in front of the library and cheering the team on at games, they have become well versed in the lives and traditions of true wearers of the Blue. So well in fact that the freshman elevator has been put in storage to await next year's frosh.

The Class of "52" has fast become a part of P.H.S. Its officers are president, Ronald Flagg; vice president, Gretchen Reiche; and secretary and treasurer, Caroline Cavallaro. Members of the Executive Board: Nancy Sullivan, Helen Adams, Flora Yankowsky, Beverly Grant, Durward Lewis, Richard Stanchfield, Irving Silver, Robert Bamford, Mr. John Cor-

TOTEM ART AND PHOTOGRAPHY

To a pupil at Portland High School, the TOTEM is a book of pictures, a place where he can preserve a friend's autograph. But when this same pupil graduates the TOTEM becomes more than just a book. It becomes the recorder of his high school memories.

The task of compiling the 1949 TOTEM fell upon the shoulders of Co-editors Allan Cook and Ralph Levi. These two boys and a fine supporting editorial staff under the direction of Miss Barbara Johnson, faculty adviser, spent many hours putting together a yearbook which would give a true picture of life at Portland High School during the current year.

Among the others giving of their time and abilities to make the TOTEM a success were Associate Editors, Aphrodite Doukas, Lois Dickson, Norman Beller, Gretchen Reiche, Guy Hadlock and John Galli; Sports Editors Arnold Green and Jeannette Carron; Staff writers Nancy Douglas, Charlotte Troubh, Maurice Hight, Leonard Bernstein, Samuel Pasciencier, Arturo Caliandro, Bruno Caliandro, Arthur Kelley, Sylvia Caron, Shirley Goldberg, Mignonette Marsh; Cashiers, Carl Harris, Joseph Rigo, Catherine Rutherford.

The business end of the TOTEM has been successfully carried on by Senior Carl Harris, business manager, John Fortier, advertising manager, Arturo Caliandro, Catherine Rutherford, Helen Wood.

In addition to the publishing of the annual, the staff presented its annual Totem Assembly and the third annual Audition Alley.

sports news, fashions, the latest in favorite recordings, news about the faculty and many other enlightening columns.

This year as conductors, Bruno Caliandro and Sylvia Caron have taken the baton. In the associate editors division we have had representatives from the different classes. They are: Aphrodite Doukas, Stavroula Balomenos, Arthur Kelley, heading our art department, Arthur Komar, Corinne Flaherty, Arnold Green as sports editors, Lois Dickson, Gretchen Reiche, and John Fortier.

The circulation staff has been ably managed by Guy Hadlock, John Galli, Constance Taylor, and Maurice Hight. Those on the circulation staff were Toulia Sackley, Emily Walton, Norma Beller, Corinne Flaherty, Ann Sullivan, Pat Small, Jeanette Capozza, Jan Colby, Christina Colello, Jean Bruce, Anahis Antranigian, Charlotte Troubh, Mary Malconian, Joan Solesky, Priscilla Phillips, Anita Menario, Georgia Kourakis, Constance Harkins, and Josephine Greely.

This year the editorial staff has been indeed capably staffed, boasting such fine writers as Aphrodite Doukas, Maurice Hight, Nancy Douglas, Arnold Green, Starr Balomenos, John Galli, Allan Cook, Donald Critchley, Lois Dickson, Arthur Caliandro, Jean Thomas, Jan Colby, Susan Higgins, Eva Mansfield, Ralph Levi, Carl Harris, Arthur Komar, Corinne Flaherty, Charlotte Troubh, Gretchen Reiche, Ann Sullivan, and Norma Beller.

Each staff on the paper is necessary and dependent upon the other to make the publication a successful one. So it is with the advertising staff, directed by John Fortier, who has worked endless hours procuring ads for the papers. He has been assisted by Catherine Rutherford, Helen Wood, Edwin Winship, Jeanette Capozza, Virginia Martin, and Christina Colello.

Thoughts and Passages

A vital part of any school publication is the advertising. The money which is received from advertising along with the money paid by subscribers constitutes the greater amount of revenue. These dollars are the ones which pay the printer, the photographer, and any other bills which are incurred.

It is not the easiest thing in the world to solicit ads. Much shoe leather is worn out and many phone calls are made before the tremendous job is completed. This job demands time and people who are willing to do real hard work. This year's advertising staff can feel proud of itself because of the truly wonderful job which it has done. On them has depended the success or the failure of both the TOTEM and the HI-LIGHTS. They have come through, making both a success. In number, it is a small staff but in work accomplished, it is a large staff.

Every one of them, under the capable leadership of Advertising Manager John Fortier, has proven his worth. The staff includes such reliables as Arturo Caliandro, Virginia Martin, Edwin Winship, and Ruth Wood.

Again those loyal "wearers of the blue," the Portland High School debaters brought home some truly great laurels. In December, at Bowdoin College, veterans Gordon Cote and Lois Dickson opened a successful season by winning over eleven other Maine and New Hampshire schools. Both were chosen "best speakers" in their respective forums arguing the topic; "The Extension of Farm Price Supports."

At the turn of the new year the old rostrum whirled and produced for Coach J. Weston Walch his largest debate squad in two decades. At South Portland these twenty young Patrick Henrys quoted themselves successfully through fourteen out of sixteen debates. Arguing the question "Resolved: That the U. N. now be revised into a Federal World Government" were Negative teams: Helen Adams and Lois Dickson; Richard Jacobs, Irving Silver, and Arnold Green; Norman Glovsky and Edwin Winship; Stacia Eraklis and Starr Balomenos; Affirmative: June Tevan, Gretchen Reiche, and Gordon Cote; Rose Audet and Mignonette Marsh; Margaret Maloney, Beverly Gray, and Josephine Fiato; Marjorie Koenig, Sandra Modes, and Barbara Dorler. From this group were chosen the varsity team: Edwin Winship, Josephine Fiato, Irving Silver, Arnold Green, Lois Dickson, and Gordon Cote.

This team after trips to Plymouth and Laconia, New Hampshire emerged victoriously from the New England National Forensic League Debate Tournament held in Portland. This marked the second consecutive year that the Blue debaters topped their New England competitors to bring home the Toastmaster's trophy.

"You Can't Take It With You"

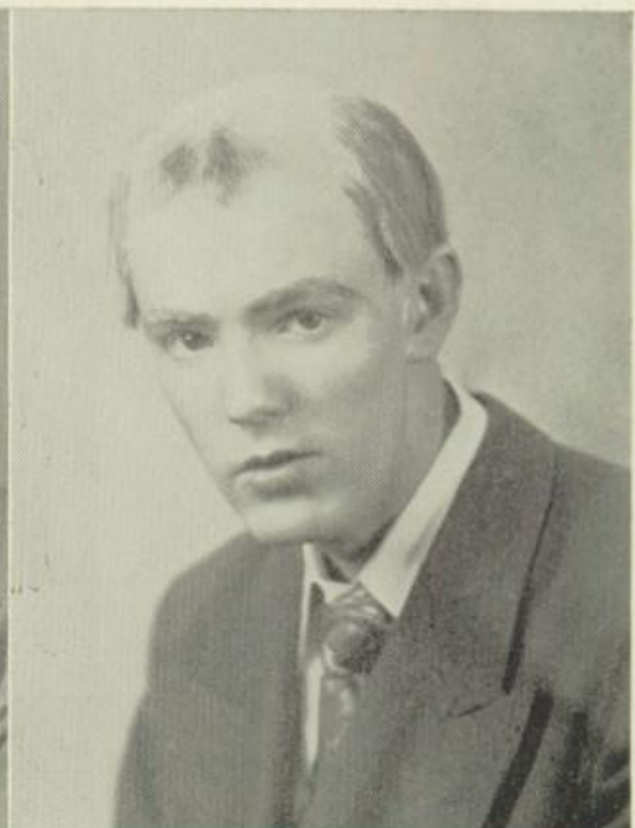

The hilarious comedy drama "You Can't Take It With You" by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman was presented in April by the Class of 1949. It was a smashing success given by a brilliant cast and an inspiring, untiring director.

Included in the cast were Gloria Koenig, Charlene Corbin, Gertrude Richardson, Bruce Currie, Edward Carr, Arthur Kelley, Robert Hill, Bruno Caliandro, Sally Rich, Allen Lelansky, Lyall Stewart, Samuel Pasciencier, Philip Petersen, Elaine Thurston, Corille Bamford, Ronald Norris, Robert Young, and Shirley Goldberg.

The unsung heroes of back stage work were Joan Hancock, Robert Hen-nigar, Dana Farrington and Carmel Bellino.

Faculty members assisting the seniors in the production were Mrs. Leota Rowe, the director, Francis E. Connor, make-up, Miss Barbara Wallace, scenery; Clinton W. Graffam, Jr., music; Cecil B. Farrar, printing and Fred M. West, staging. Mrs. Rowe is again to be congratulated on her un-ceasing efforts to make each year's production just a little better than the previous one.

ART CLUB OFFICERS

Harmony in Perspective

This year's Art Club was one of the most active and successful in P.H.S. history. Under the able supervision of Miss Barbara Wallace, this obliging club has really "gone to town" making settings for rallies and assemblies, in addition to the outstanding work done for the Senior Class Play.

This year's version of "Club 304" under the leadership of Mel Lerman, president; Bob Stone, vice-president; Joan Soleski, secretary; and Joan Masalin, treasurer, presented an excellent minstrel show early in the year, proving that Art isn't its only talent. In April the Club held a "real fine" Splash Party in the YMCA, and in May, the Art Club sponsored one of the season's most successful dances.

Thus, these extrovert-artists, while enjoying themselves and cultivating their talent have also helped support other activities with true school spirit, energy and ability.

. . . . Our Good Samaritans

This year the Portland High School Red Cross Council has sounded another soft note in the hearts of many underprivileged and war victimized youngers. Starting off at an allegro pace in September the council made gift boxes for many European children. This project did not bring the song to a double bar, but continued on with a great crescendo as with tremendous energy these willing workers prepared more boxes—this time for the boys at Opportunity Farm—an annual project.

The Christmas vacation was a mere twelve measure rest for the council because at the resumption of school the members jumped to the coda and put on a colorful "Sadie Hawkins" dance. With President Gloria Koenig conducting; Sally Rich taking the assistant conductor's job as vice president; Secretary-treasurer Ruth Kenney keeping the books and Faculty Adviser, Miss Frances Bigelow taking a difficult obligato part, the work was maintained at an even tempo during the year.

Other projects carried on with a smooth legato were the sale of "Bulldog Pins," the annual fund raising campaign and an identification stamp sale.

Singing Rails

On Wings of music, thirty-one eager Portlandites left April 25 for the annual trip to Washington, D. C. Arrangements for the trip were made by Dean M. Adelaide Lehan, faculty adviser.

Leading the band of carefree seniors were Carl Harris, president; Carmel Bellino, vice president; and Carolyn Sanson, secretary-treasurer. The "score" included visits to such landmarks as The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier; Mount Vernon; the Congressional Library and the Whitehouse.

After an enjoyable day and a half on "the sidewalks of New York" the troupe returned to Portland April 30.

This group of singing minstrels included; Cynthia Stevens, Alberta Strout, Delores Smith, Dorothy Train, Joan Colley, Emily Walton, Mary McDonough, Sylvia Caron, Carmel Bellino, Arlene Robinson, Patricia Millett, Betty Harvey, Bessie Cleveland, Reta Pedersen, Katherine Doe, Josephine Dodd, Barbara Appleby, Joyce Bonnevie, Carolyn Sanson, Shirley Cusack, Betty Ek, Glenice Marchant, Jean Carpenter, Joan Crocker, Richard Barter, Robert Acosta, Lester Noyes, Richard Moody, Allen Lelansky, Kenneth Horr and Carl Harris.

..... Swingsters

"Who're gonna yell for — P-O-R-T-L-A-N-D?" We hear the Portland High School pep squad leading her students in a cheer familiar to all.

Now let's give a cheer for our cheerleaders. They're a group playing an important part in any school and Portland is justly proud of her spirited squad.

This year the Blue and White's pep pack is headed by Larry Ingalls and Patty Millett. Their crew has consisted of Toula Sackley, Elaine Thurston, Joan Masalin, Walter Cobb, Harold Thomas and Phil Lenentines. Their alternates are Georgia Kourakos, Norma Beller, Jean Bruce, Audrey Wood, Carolyn Cavallaro, Donna Libby and Catherine Hassen.

Under the able leadership of Francis E. Connors of the faculty, the pepsters cheered many a team to victory. When one of the athletic teams has bogged down, the first to come to the rescue has been the cheerleaders. Then the other loyal wearers of the blue have chimed in with an ear deafening yell and another P.H.S. victory has been pulled out of the fire — thanks to P.H.S. cheerleaders.

Stamp Club

Under the guidance of Miss Ella L. Pennell, the P.H.S. Philatelic Society has enjoyed an extremely successful year. Gordon Cote, as president, held the baton and directed the members in their 1949 activities. The agenda included a stamp exhibit for the Parent-Teachers Association in February, and immediately following that came the ever-popular pencil sale. In May, the club held its annual stamp exhibit. Another feature on the program was the selection of a new emblem from designs and ideas formulated by the members. The club consists of two types of membership, honorary and active. The active members lend their support in a pecuniary manner, and the honorary members donate theirs by furnishing stamps, clippings, and other things necessary for club maintenance.

Portland High School can well be proud of this well-knit organization by holding its enthusiastic members as a symbol of industriousness.

Hi-Y Club

With president Philip Cunningham waving the baton, the Portland High School Hi-Y club this year reached the "vivace," and in grand style enlarged and strengthened its membership to become an outstanding club in P.H.S.

"Con molto spirito" the club members have worked hard and have brought sweet notes of praise and thanksgiving to the lips of the people benefited by their good deeds. The major project of each year, was to present the school with a gift.

While adviser Clifford A. Blake sang the melody, these energetic boys harmonized beautifully to complete with a great deal of modesty—many worthy projects.

Helping maestro Cunningham conduct this splendid group were Vice-President Richard Foye, Secretary Eugene Altman, Treasurer Guy Hadlock and Chaplain Arturo Caliandro.

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character" is the motto the Hi-Y members are living up to. Realizing that the youth of America are tomorrows' leaders, the club is doing much to develop the minds and bodies of boys so that they may fulfill this great task ahead of them.

Photography Club

"Hold it! click — Thanks, look for your picture in one of the school publications." Yes, that's the familiar say of a Photography club member. The "Johnnie on the spot" is always there. At school functions, whether formal or not, the Photography club has a member in attendance.

For the first time in several years Portland High has an organized Photography Club. Under the watchful eye of Mr. Carl Stevens, faculty adviser, the club has done many interesting things, from field trips to actual dark-room instruction. As a service to the school, it has diligently operated the projectors for various classes in the Movie Room.

Officers of the club include: President, Bruno Caliandro; Vice President, Donald Critchley; Secretary, Nancy Whitney; and Treasurer, Harry Burnham. Under the guidance of these officers the Photography Club has had a very interesting and successful year.

The band strikes up a gay martial air and more than 100 P.H.S. cadets swing by, their heads held erect, every arm swinging together, in perfect cadence. And then—"Company halt!" "Order arms!" "Present arms!" barks the officer in command. Every rifle moves as one. These boys are near-perfect. These are the same boys, who, in competition with Deering H.S., won the cup for the best battalion. Richard Foye, as commander of the P.H.S. battalion, received the cup. Company A of P.H.S. was acclaimed the best company. Company A was led by Captain Philip Cunningham. Other company commanders were Captain Gordon Prescott of Company C and Captain Allan Cook of Company E. Colonel Philip Allison was the regimental commander of both P.H.S. and D.H.S. Other officers with a rank of lieutenant or higher include Guy Hadlock, Richard Berry, Bruno Caliandro, Wesley McKague, Russell Thistlewood, Philip Roberts, John Galli, John Morrill, Allen Lelansky, Arthur Kelley, and Harold Driscoll. Col. Karl V. Palmer and Franklin R. Glasscock direct the cadets.

Phil Cunningham

This year has been a momentous one for the girls of P.H.S. After years of wishing, the Girl Cadet Corp has finally become a reality. Under the capable direction of Col. Karl V. Palmer and Franklin Glasscock, the girls have started off to a remarkable beginning. Two battalions have been formed this year.

Every Tuesday and Thursday morning, the boys' gym has resounded with the "symphony" of the marching feet and shrill commands of the girls, endeavoring to make a good showing at the annual Cadet Ball, April 22.

This year's officers included Battalion Commanders: Lieutenant Colonel Joanne Brooks, Lieutenant Colonel Sally Rich; Executive Officers: Major Shirley Goldberg, Major Gloria Koenig; Battalion Adjutants: 1st Lieutenant Virginia Macri, 1st Lieutenant Reta Pederson, Staff Lieutenant Jean Kirby, 2nd Lieutenant Ellen Lawless; Regimental Staff Officers: Captain Nancy Higgins, Captain Priscilla Pratt; Company Commanders: Captain Greta Goldblatt, Captain Lorraine Johnson, Captain Gertrude Farnum, Captain Iva Niles, Captain Edythe Kroot, Captain Eleanor Smith; 1st Lieutenants: Martha Malpass, Joan C. Music of the Masters

If you should go into the P.H.S. Auditorium on Monday or Wednesday during the school year, you would probably find the P.H.S. Orchestra rehearsing. If you investigated, you would find that the music sounded good and that the orchestra was composed of a fine group of musicians. Unfortunately, several seniors, including Arthur Kelley, Carmine Leo, Helen Ek, Eleanor St. Angelo, Katherine Doe, Starr Balomenos, and Ralph Levi, will be leaving the orchestra in June; but if as many good Freshmen come in next fall as did last fall, the conductor, Clinton L. Graffam, Jr., will not be worried.

In January of this year, the orchestra made a fine showing at its annual concert, with Starr Balomenos, Carmine Leo, and Arthur Kelley as soloists. In March, our concertmaster, Sydney Cronsberg, was a member of the All-New England Orchestra at Wellesley, Massachusetts.

Arthur Kelley and Arthur Komar have won free trips to New York City, the former appearing on a nation-wide broadcast.

In May, the orchestra was successful at the Maine and New England music festivals. It will finish its performances at graduation. The orchestra has had a fine record this year; one of which all associated with Portland High School may be justly proud.

..... Classical to Swing

"Down front, everybody!" That's the favorite saying of Mr. Clinton W. Graffam, Portland High School Band Director. Our sparkling Blue and White Band has a fine and talented director, and makes a fine combination with the eager students in the Band. The band this year had a fine assortment of instrumentalists: trumpets; Carmine E. On the Gridiron

Starting their season with a thrilling 13-12 win over Nashua High, of Nashua, N. H., it looked like another successful season for the footballers of Coach Jimmy Sibson. Our Blue Bulldogs kept right on rolling, and the following week slapped arch rival Deering by a 7-0 score. Then — Edward Little High of Auburn paid a visit to our gridmen, and disregarding all rules of etiquette, humbled them by a one-sided 34-7 tally. The Sibsonmen couldn't quite bounce back from the Edward Little shellacing, and the next week Bangor's Rams squeezed by our Blueboys by 13-7. Portland then hit the win trail again, by thumping Cony High, 18-9, and following the Cony triumph, Al Caterina led the Bulldogs to a 7-7 tie with Lewiston's powerful Blue Streaks. The next game, against underdog Cheverus, turned out to be "an underdog-has-his-day" affair, for the Irish pushed across one T.D. and then settled down to a tight defense that the Sibsonmen couldn't penetrate for a score. Thus the final score was Cheverus 6, Portland 0. The final win of the season for the Bulldogs came on October 30, when they trounced perennial jinx Thornton Academy, 26-13. Then the Blue absorbed a solid 27-0 setback against South Portland, and in the mud and rain of Thanksgiving Day, Deering "slipped" past Portland for a narrow 6-0 verdict, giving our gridders a final seasons record of 4 wins, 5 losses, and 1 tie.

Al Caterina, Bob Young, Gil Hasson, Johnny Mancini, Captain Harley Johnson, "Boogie" Maller, and "Red" Rutherford were perhaps the steadily outstanding performers for Portland this year, and had he not been injured in the second game of the season, halfback Jim Campbell would probably have sparked the Bulldogs to a much better record than they attained without him.

One of the best known school organizations is the Portland High School Ski Club which embarked this year in its seventh year of existence under the guidance of Mr. George M. Albert.

The officers for the current year were Alan Tolman, president; Steve Liponis, vice president; Rosalie Kaserman, secretary; Stanley Brisson, treasurer; Maurice Hight and Richard Miller, members of the Executive Board.

The cool winter days after school at Dyke Mountain; the Sunday bus trips to Jackson, New Hampshire; the long awaited week at Mt. Washington are just a few memories the club members will have to look back upon on the hot summer days in July.

The club, as in the past years, sponsored a ski team to represent PHS in various ski meets throughout the state. The boys who made up this crew are Alan Tolman, Richard Miller, Francis Perry, James Spear, and Stan Brisson.

Henry Deetjen

On the Court

Although handicapped once again by that perennial Portland problem—lack of height—Coach “Whopper” Deetjen’s Little Boy Blues have had a successful season of ten wins and seven losses. The Blue basketekers chalked up eight of their wins during the regular season play, and rounded out their list of triumphs by downing Deering and Westbrook in Western Maine Tournament competition.

Jim Degifico, Chet Kocika, Bill Sears, Al Grassi, and Dick Hawes, (who tallied a record breaking 27 points against Deering in the Tournament opener), were the lads in particular who accounted for much of Portland’s success, but Jim Campbell, Tom Conley, Nino Montecalvo, Harold Anthony, Ronnie Norris, Bill McLaughlin, Rollie MacMillan, Emory Mitchell, Dick Johnson, Joe Nelson, Dave Redmond, and Ed Backewicz, were other competent ball players who greatly helped the Blue cause throughout the year.

Even with their new “two-teams” system, the Deetjenmen, (forced to play three games in as many days, under the tourney elimination set-up), didn’t have quite enough stamina left to win the Western Maine hoop title, as ironically enough, this honor went to the South Portland team that our cagers humbled twice during the regular season.

The Deetjenmen played many thrilling games outside of the Tournament. For instance the first game with Westbrook was a contest that will be talked about for many basketball seasons to come. The game was so close that it ended in a 30-30 tie, at the end of regulation time. But then Westbrook "got hot" in the first overtime period, and pulled ahead to a 40-33 win.

Then for a high-scoring thriller there was Portland's 54-44 conquest of highly touted Lewiston at the Expo. The experts had picked this one to be a close game right down to the final gun, with Lewiston as the eventual winner. But our Blue basketmen upset the experts' dope-bucket, to the delight of the throng of Portland fans cheering for the Deetjenmen.

Another game of the season that stands out as a real thriller was the first game against Deering. Our Bulldogs finally bowed to the Rams by a 37-34 tally, but it was a hard fought, nip-and-tuck battle all the way.

Out of their rugged seventeen game schedule, Portland's hoopmen emerged victorious in ten games. So, in addition to making their supporters happy by playing exciting basketball, the Blue cagers made them happy with a winning 10-7 record for the season.

On the Diamond

As the 1949 TOTEM goes to press, Portland's Bulldog baseballers are riding in fourth place behind Deering, South Portland, and St. Louis, in the nine team Telegram League.

The Blue diamonders started their 1949 campaign with a 10-5 win over "Fearless" Freddy Harlow's Westbrook team, thanks to some timely relief pitching by fireballing Sophomore Dave Redmond, and some lusty stickwork by infielders Dick Hawes and Nunzi Mancini.

In Portland's next game, it was once again Lefty Dave Redmond pacing the Portland win with some expert hurling. The final count of this tilt was Portland 6, St. Louis 5.

Then our Tannermen took a trip to Thornton, and were tripped by the home-town lads by a 4-2 margin. This game was a tough luck loss for Rollie MacMillan, who gave up only one earned run to the Sacoites.

Portland's next outing was an easy 13-0 trouncing of Biddeford. That man Redmond pitched the shutout, and nearly all of his team-mates chipped in with solid base hits as the Bulldogs swamped the Biddies.

Riding in a first place tie in the Telly League, Portland traveled to South Portland in an attempt to gain sole possession of the league's sunberth. But Dick Carmichael and his Red Riot team-mates had their ideas about this, too, and so handed starting pitcher Dave Redmond his first loss of the year. Rollie MacMillan came on for the Blue in a fireman's role, but there was no dampening the red hot Riots who went on to win, 10-4.

Back at the Stadium once again, with Dave Redmond on the mound once more, Portland was dealt a heartbreaking 1-0 loss by Sanford. Redmond pitched what was probably his best game of the season against the Indians—a 2 hit, 15 strikeout performance—but the Bulldogs couldn't push a run across for him, while Sanford was able to score just that necessary one.

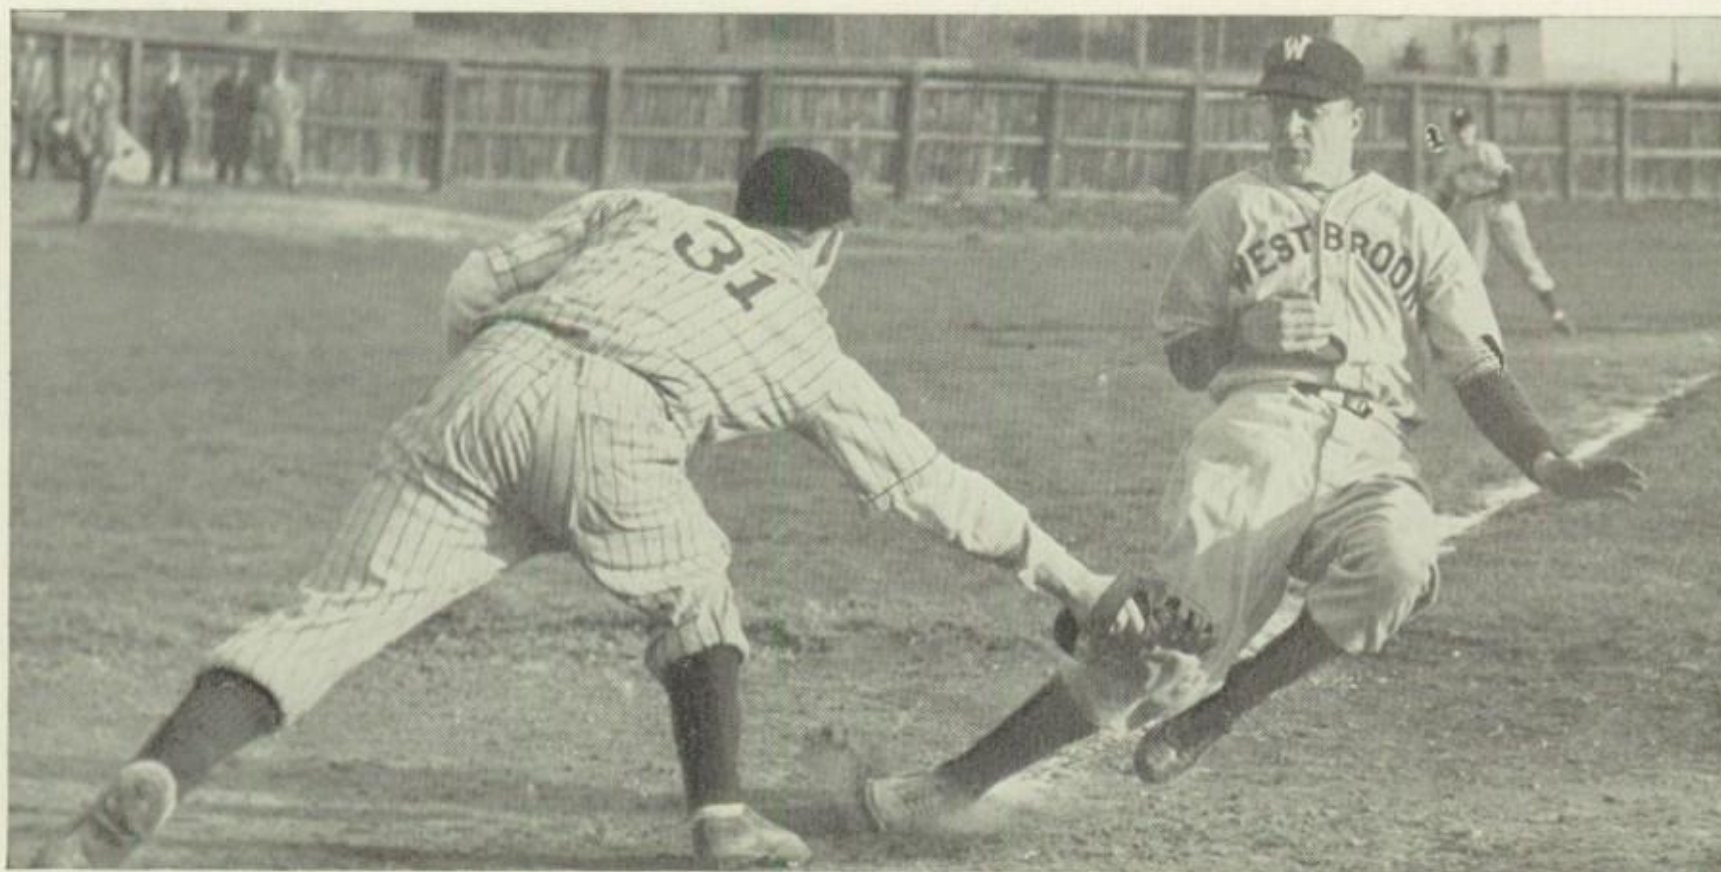

Against Westbrook once more, Portland bounced back to a 6-5 win. Harold Anthony was the starting pitcher for the Tannermen, and although needing Rollie MacMillan to save the game with relief pitching, gained credit for the victory.

The eighth game of the year for Portland was another tough luck, one run loss. This time the other team was Deering, and the score was 5-4.

Portland's fifth victory of the season was an 8-3 conquest of Thornton Academy, as Bob Tanner's forces were pitched and batted to the revenge win by powerful southpaw Johnny Mancini.

Then meeting Sanford for the second time of the year, the Blue was downed 9-5.

The team that Coach Bob Tanner has been fielding this year included, infield: Ed Connolly, Ronnie Leonard, Nunzi Mancini, Dick Hawes; outfield: Gus "Bones" Profenno, Dick "Boogie" Maller, Johnny Mancini; pitchers: Dave Redmond, Harold Anthony, Rollie MacMillan, Johnny Mancini; catchers: Dick Jackson, Vern Durant; utility: "Sonny" St. Angelo and Chet Koceika.

New England Champs

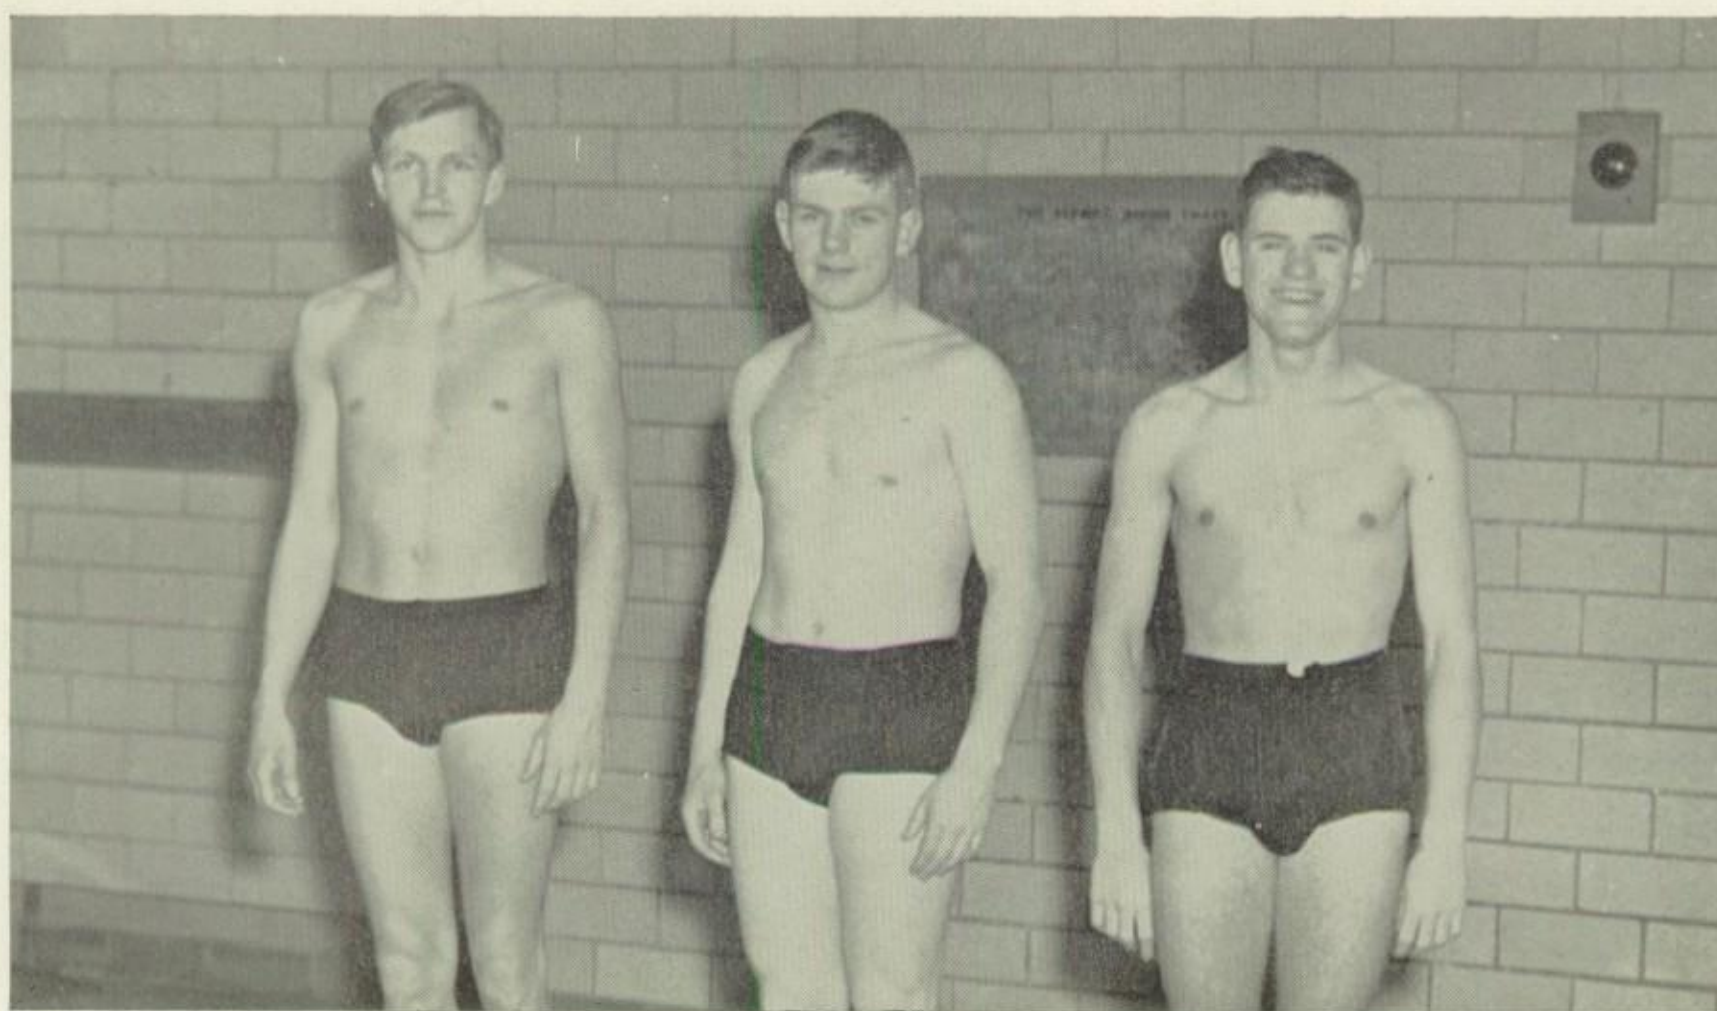

Don Spicer

Once again piling up a record that was anything but sweet music to their opponents, our great swimming team has shown what an able "conductor" is their coach, Harold Paulson, and what talented swimming pool proteges they are. As in 1948, our speedy swim stars came out on top in the State meet, the Brown Interscholastics, and the New England Interscholastic swimming championships.

Dick Lucas was the sparkplug for the Blue tankmen in the backstroke, plus being a steadily fast performer on the medley relay. In the breaststroke, Arnie Rosario was Portland's mainstay, and he, like Lucas, was a top man for the medley relay. Ken Prescott and Steve Liponis were Coach Paulson's diving dependables. In the gruelling medley swim it was Roy Remington who usually picked up the needed points. For the freestyle department, Captain Donald Spicer, Warren Knowles, Herb Wishart, Arnold Green, and Frank D'Amico turned in the fastest performances.

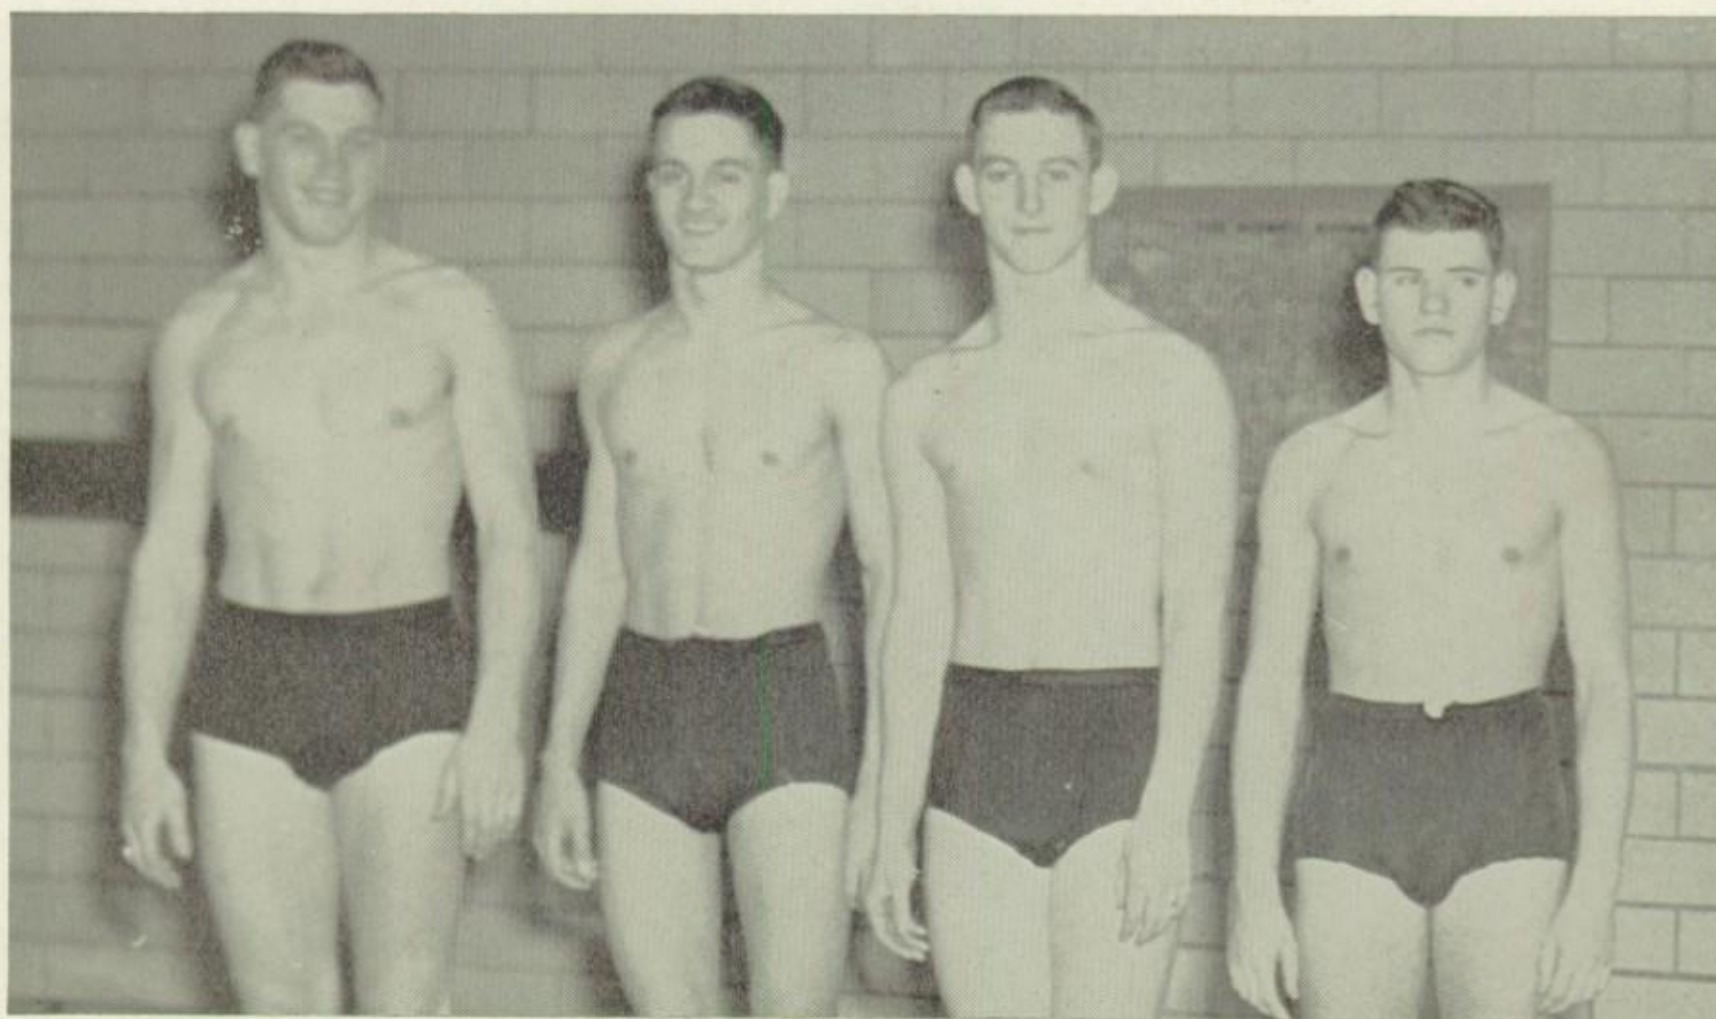

Portland swimming fans should look forward to seeing next season's Blue mermen put together a record that will be truly as fine as a beautiful symphony.

Local hopes are high that the title of this symphonic masterpiece, composed by Coach Harold Paulson, and played by Lucas, Knowles, Rosario, Spicer, and associates will be, "Portland High School—National Champions!"

In the Field

With Captain Ed Connolly leading the way, and Harvey Levine, Bill King, Leon Libby, Dick Densmore, and Bob Joy, picking up important points, Coach Ralph Corey's cross-country crew has had a successful season of five wins and two losses. The Blue harriers downed Lincoln Academy, beat Gorham High twice, and also triumphed over Deering and Brunswick High, while losing only to Gould Academy and the powerful Bowdoin Frosh. At the State Meet on November 4, Ed Connolly came through for Portland by capturing first place from a field of 83 competitors, and at the New Englands on November 20, Ed again upheld Blue prestige by garnering 12th place out of a select group of runners from over all New England. The squad was small in numbers this year, but very large in spirit and determination to win, and so the Coreymen have had a winning season. Totem salutes and congratulates the 1948 edition of Portland High School's cross-country team.

Ed Connolly

..... On the Boards

To a well-kid Lots of Luck in the Future Anthony B. McC.

You cannot compose a symphony without first having certain materials on hand. Coach Ralph Corey, although no musician, has known this fact for years. For instance he would greatly enjoy composing a Four Cornered Track Meet title symphony, sometime in the very near future. But there is where the necessity of having certain materials on hand comes in. To illustrate, look at Portland's fine showing in the Four Cornered Meet this year: the Coreymen placed second by scoring a total of 46 points, and winning six out of ten separate events. Captain Ed Connolly captured the mile run, Bob Hill won the high jump, Anthony Bellino captured the Junior 120 yard dash, Lloyd Fox took a first in the Intermediate 600 yard run, and the Intermediate and Senior relay teams also streaked home first for the Blue.

Now of course this was melodious music to Blue supporters as far as it went, but it fell short of being in the "symphony class" because the Blue boardmen lacked the depth to back up all of these first places. And the only way to have that depth is to have more boys out for track — in other words giving "maestro" Corey the materials needed to compose his symphony in C. Four C that is!

So it is with these thoughts in mind that the 1949 TOTEM salutes those who have worked to give Portland High School a strong track team, and at the same time expresses the hope that some of "Conductor" Corey's needed "materials" will be out for the 1949-50 edition of Portland's track squad.

Girl's Basketball

Nineteen forty-nine has been an outstanding year for the graceful and rhythmic ball-erinas of Portland High School. The season's goal has been accomplished under the guidance and leadership of their competent coach, Miss Joan Cosgrove. The freshman class was the largest in several years with a turnout of forty-one. The highlight of the season was the inter-class tournament which had each team putting in longer hours of practice, resulting in more skilled ball-handling and smoother co-ordination. The senior basketball team won the tournament with a fine display of applied skill and excellent spirit. As a graduating group, they set a high standard which the present underclassmen will try to achieve in following years. The six regular players of the winning team were Lorraine Johnson, Nancy Douglas, Ruth Wood, forwards, and Joanne Howland, Joan Hancock, and Jan Carron, in the guarding section. Gertrude Richardson and Norma McIlvaine were substitutes. The season ended with the general feeling that much had been accomplished in the field of basketball itself, but most important of all, good sportsmanship was instilled, or rather, dribbled into the hearts of all the pretty maidens whose aims are to learn and enjoy basketball.

Girl's Swimming

Under the able supervision of Harold Paulson, swimming coach, over sixty-five Portland High School mermaids took advantage of the facilities offered at the Portland Boys' Club Pool. Eighteen of the group also successfully passed a beginner's test given by the American Red Cross and received certificates.

The aim of Mr. Paulson is to teach all girls to swim and become capable of taking care of themselves in the water. All girls are given equal training and no special attempt is made to train outstanding swimmers. The more proficient students are selected to take part in the annual meet sponsored by the Athletic Association of Southwestern Maine. This year the following girls participated in this meet: Jeanette MacVane, Joan Masalin, Jean Thomas, Corinne Flaherty, Norma Wood, Elizabeth Ek, Dorothy Scott, Janice Bloomer, and Donna Libby.

Miss Madeleine D. Kingsley is faculty adviser of the group, and Joan Hancock, 1949 graduate, has been the capable student manager for three years.
